Hourly rate: The 'retail rate customarily charged by that franchisee for the same labor when not performed in satisfaction of a warranty', as long as the nonwarranty labor rate is 'routinely posted in a place conspicuous to its service customer'. The statute has no RO-sample method for labor; the 100-RO / 60-day method is for parts markup only.

Notes

Parts: vehicles over 10,000 lb GVWR get only 'adequately and fairly compensate'; all others get the retail markup. The GVWR split does not apply to labor. Motor-home living components are excluded from retail parts pricing. No cost recovery. The franchisor may not restrict labor or parts in ways that impair warranty service. Recall labor and parts claims are processed and paid like § 1176 warranty claims (§ 1174(3)(C-3)). No denial of a warranty or recall claim discovered during a separate customer repair (§ 1174(5)). The statute has no time-allowance rule.
