Hourly rate: At the dealer's written request, the retail rate is total labor charges on qualified repairs divided by hours. The sample is all consecutive ROs containing 100 sequential qualified-repair ROs, or all ROs closed in 90 consecutive days, whichever gives fewer, no older than 180 days. The rate is presumed reasonable and takes effect 45 days after receipt unless the manufacturer rebuts once. The dealer may protest to the Motor Vehicle Commission, where the manufacturer bears the…

Statute quotes

Claims (Miss. Code Ann. § 63-17-85(j) (codified text, Justia 2025);…): "All claims made by motor vehicle dealers hereunder for such labor and/or parts shall be paid within thirty (30) days following their approval. All such claims shall be either approved or disapproved within thirty (30) days after their receipt"
Chargebacks (Miss. Code Ann. § 63-17-117(1); (2), (4)): "Any audit for warranty parts or service compensation shall be performed within the twelve-month period immediately following the date of the payment of the disputed claim by the manufacturer or distributor."
Rate (Miss. Code Ann. § 63-17-86(1); formula (2); frequency (3);…): "all consecutive repair orders that include one hundred (100) sequential repair orders reflecting qualified repairs, or all repair orders closed during any period of ninety (90) consecutive days, whichever produces the fewer number of repair orders"
Factory time (§ 63-17-85(j)): "Time allowances for the diagnosis and performance of warranty work shall be reasonable and adequate for such work to be performed using the actual time required by a qualified technician of ordinary skill to perform such work."

Notes

The official Mississippi Code is Lexis-only. Text comes from the enrolled 2021 HB 746 and matches the Justia 2025 mirror; the codified § 63-17-85(j) drops 'incidental expenses'. The statute has no deemed-approval rule for warranty claims. The payment clock runs only from approval. Dealers may not charge the manufacturer a labor rate 'in excess of the rate charged to its retail customers'. Time allowances must be 'reasonable and adequate' using 'the actual time required by a qualified technician of ordinary skill'. 'Warranty work' covers new-vehicle warranty, recall and CPO warranty, not service contracts. Recall and stop-sale claims follow the same § 63-17-85(j) limits (§ 63-17-73(4)(f)). The MMVC agency website still shows pre-2021 text.
